Editorial Review

Review

"The most effective and valuable book that I have used in teaching production ... an invaluable resource for students to develop and manage their productions. I highly recommend this book."

Steve Montal

Director, Educational and Special Program Development, AFI Silver Theatre
Producing Director, AFI Discovery Documentary Festival

"...if you follow the guidelines here, you'll wield a finely-honed financial weapon rather than a blunt instrument when you meet with bankers, lawyers and completion bon companies. This book lowers your stress level by altering your perception of the budgeting process."

DGA (Director's Guild of America) Magazine

"Anyone involved in managing budgets for film and video recording, be it for feature films or concerts, will find this book useful...It's well laid out and written and offers many money saving hints and tips." - Lighting and Sound International

From the Publisher

Also includes new and highly useful materials such as a comprehensive master list of line items, which covers just about everything that could possibly be put into a production; and chapters on pre-production and setting up a production company.

About the Author

Wiese is a producer/director with 22 years experience in film, television, pay TV and home video. He was formerly vice president of original programming at Vestron Video.
