Black Beauties: Iconic Cars Photographed by Rene Staud From teNeues

René Staud is one of the best automotive photographers in the industry, highly sought-after and extremely innovative. He has already published five successful automotive photo books, the most recent of which is Mercedes-Benz—The Grand Cabrios & Coupés. And now René Staud is “back in black.” Like the opening riff of the famous AC/DC song, Black Beauties is predestined to delight little boys and big boys alike. In his consistently compelling images, Staud shows us a series of historic cars painted in the color of classical elegance and sporty power: the legendary Alfa Romeo 8C of the 1930s, the Bugatti Veyron Grand Sport Vitesse, the fastest open-topped production car ever made, and even the “Goddess” Citroën DS. In addition to the gorgeous photos, there are essays by renowned authors about the significance and effect of the color black on automotive design. A wonderful photo volume that is anything but colorless!

About the Author

Black Beauties Iconic Cars Photographed by Rene Staud Biography "Rene Staud is a masterful photographer: his artworks are finely joined compositions of light and color contoured with a flash. His portraits of captivating car bodies have made a distinctive mark in the world of modern automotive photography." (Motor Presse Stuttgart) Rene Staud was born in 1951 in Stuttgart and cultivated his interest in photography from an early age. He took many photography courses to build his skills before he was even out of high school. With money he made from selling souvenir photos and portraits, he was soon able to build his first black-and-white photo lab. He completed an apprenticeship in a portrait studio/photography equipment shop after graduation and then worked as a photo assistant and freelance photographer during his compulsory military service. After leaving the military, he was unable to find a staff photographer's job, so he launched his own business. He started out doing wedding photography and news photography, but he soon saw the enormous demand for high-quality advertising and product photography and opened his first studio in Wendlingen in 1975. He achieved his great breakthrough with the development of Magicflash(R), a surface lighting technology specially suited to the needs of studio photography. The automotive industry in particular was enthusiastic about the new possibilities the system presented, and an increasing number of clients from this industry enabled Staud to open his large indoor studio in Leonberg in 1986. Today, with over 35 years of experience as an advertising photographer, the name Rene Staud is inextricably linked to brands like Porsche, Aston Martin and Mercedes-Benz, whose public image has been molded to a large extent by Staud's photos.
